

It has been real close to 6 years since the "Illegal Of The Day" has visited Alaska.

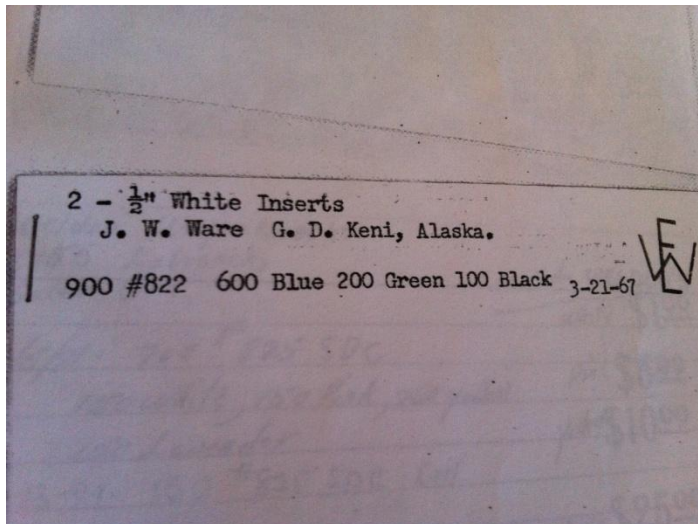

Not a big return on the research for this one. The "Illegal Of The Day" team looks into most of the new chips we find. Some are big hits some are not.

Bud Meyer found the EW SqinCir chips.

EW Alaska1

Record for the EW chips.

EW Alaska2

Obit for JW Ware.

Longtime Kenai resident John W. Ware died May 24, 1999, at Central Peninsula General Hospital in Soldotna. He was 82.

A memorial service will be at 10 a.m. Saturday at the Kenai Christian Church in Kenai. The Rev. Herb Shaan and the Rev. Dick Jergensen will officiate.

Mr. Ware was born March 5, 1917, in Angeline, Mo., where he was raised and graduated from high school. He joined the U.S. Army on April 11, 1941, and was stationed in Glennallen in 1942 until his honorable discharge on Dec. 10, 1945.

Mr. Ware resided on Kodiak Island for nine years until he homesteaded in Kenai on July 1, 1960. He lived in North Kenai for the last 39 years. Mr. Ware was a member of the VFW of Soldotna Post #10046, Pioneers of Alaska and the Masonic Lodge in Salem, Mo.

His family wrote that Mr. Ware worked a variety of jobs but spent most of his time as a professional gambler. He enjoyed and was very interested in politics and government. The family said, "His life was his family, and he deeply loved his grandchildren."

Mr. Ware is preceded in death by his daughter, Donna.

He is survived by his wife of 49 years, Margaret Ware of Kenai; sons, Roger of Kenai, Dean of Sitka, Lance of Kenai, and Brandie of Kenai; daughter, Susan of Anchorage; and grandchildren, Kona of Idaho, Jessica and Deana of Sitka, David, Joel, Callie, Frieda and Ance of Kenai, and Robert, John, Jeremiah, and Sheldon of Anchorage.

The family requests in lieu of flowers that donations be made to a favorite charity.

Arrangements were made by Peninsula Memorial Chapels.

EW Alaska3

WE could not find any record of raids or arrests. "Professional Gambler" could mean he ran games or could mean he played poker for a living. He belonged to 2 fraternal organizations, VFW post 10046 and Pioneers Of Alaska. Many fraternal orgs had gambling leased out to members. Could be but not proven.

I have 1 trader of the EW if anyone needs it.